What caregivers say...

"Attending Royal Family KIDS Camp was an incredible experience for my foster children. The wealth of knowledge and love will last a lifetime."

What a social worker says...

"Your staff did an excellent job of helping the children feel good about themselves. You are to be commended for efforts in providing a positive experience for high-risk youth. Keep up the good work. We'll send children to your camp again and again!"

A Unique Summer Camp for Foster Children

Our Mission

Creating life changing moments for children of abuse.

What is Royal Family KIDS Camp?

Royal Family KIDS Camp is a five-day, overnight camp designed to recognize the specific needs of abused, neglected, and abandoned children, ages 7-11.

Royal Family KIDS Camp—Hartland is sponsored by Oakwood Church in Hartland, and is staffed by volunteers who are screened and trained to work with kids at risk. The cost of Camp is covered by businesses and individuals who care about children.

At camp, every child is paired with another camper, and carefully matched with an adult counselor. A strict rule of 2 adults always in eyesight, ensures each child is in safe hands.

The encouraging attention of caring adults, positive family role modeling, building friendships with other children like them, and the beauty of playing in the great outdoors, all result in a host of wholesome, positive memories and enhanced self-esteem.

A Week of Positive Memories

Each child is greeted by warm cheers as they step off the camp bus.

Every day is filled with a fun variety of activities such as: hiking, swimming, woodworking, horse riding, crafts, singing, storytelling, boating, and a special event!

A freshly made bed, soft cuddly friend, and a bedtime story await the first night. Camp Grandma & Grandpa share "safe hugs", tell stories, and deliver camp mail.

Lots of friends are made. Hope and trust are reborn. Fun and laughter fill the camp. Children receive their very own photo album to help preserve precious camp memories.
